

DATA PROTECTION POLICY

What is it?

The protection of your data is very important to us. For this reason, we provide detailed information on the protection of your personal data in the following privacy policy.

In doing so, we comply with the applicable data protection regulations. This statement applies to all persons whose personal data is processed. In addition, it applies to the use of our website, www.chryzolid.org. In order to be able to remember or manage your requests or our partnerships, we may need certain personal information. This privacy policy tells you how and why we process this data and what rights you have in accordance with the applicable data protection regulations.

Links

This privacy policy does not apply to external websites that you access via a link on our website. We do not accept any liability for them. Please refer to the respective website for the data protection declaration applicable to these websites.

Legal basis for processing your data

The operations and processing processes described below are based on the applicable legal bases.

Data deletion and retention period

In principle, your data will be deactivated, deleted or blocked as soon as the purpose for which it was stored no longer applies. You have the option to request the deletion of your data by e-mail to info@chryzolid.org. The blocking or deletion of the data takes place after the expiry of the specified storage periods. However, we would like to point out that statutory or legally ordered retention periods may prevent the deletion of data, even at the request of the user.

Retention and backup of your data

Your data will be treated confidentially. By means of appropriate technical and organisational precautionary measures, we protect the data against loss and manipulation as well as against unauthorised access and access by third parties, in particular by means of firewalls and internal and protected data storage.
